Contact! transmits your audio to players you play with. We record this audio to help fight abuse and extract insights to improve the game experience. We contract with a 3rd party company, TokBox, to manage the transmission and recording of audio, and all data is held securely and privately. We also store the username you give us, your app usage metrics, and your native and target languages, so we can pair you with other learners who are a good match. We'll also share your username with other players you're matched with.

Anonymized data will be collected by Google's Firebase for analytics purposes. No information or data will be shared with third-parties for marketing or advertising!
